

The suffering of animals should be completely eliminated in testing products.